RAF CONTINUES MASSIVE RAIDS AGAINST GERMAN TARGETS

100 Feared Dead, Over 250 Injured in Oklahoma Tornado

Explosives Rained Upon Vital Enemy Land Installations

BY ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Britain's great aerial offensive pounded Cologne in the heart of the Ruhr industrial valley before dawn today in the fifth successive night foray into Germany, an RAF communiqué announced, while German raiders heavily attacked Norwich, 100 miles northeast of London.

Huge fires were left burning in Cologne, the British said. Other RAF planes struck in force at the German-occupied naval base of Trondheim, Norway, where the Germans are building an Atlantic battle fleet base, and bombed the docks at Dunkerque and Nazi airbases. Eighteen planes were acknowledged missing.

Four German warships are anchored in the Trondheim harbor, including the 35,000-ton battleship Tirpitz and the 10,000-ton cruiser Prinz Eugen.

A British spokesman said the RAF bomber raid rained explosives chiefly on land installations which "we are trying to knock down as fast as they are put up," instead of concentrating on concentrating on the warships.

By daylight, swarms of RAF warplanes roared back across the channel to blast the Nazi-occupied French "invasion coast."

The magnitude of the RAF's around-the-clock assaults was indicated by a German high command assertion that 41 British planes had been destroyed in 24 hours—19 in daylight yesterday, 12 in night flights over western Germany and seven in a night attack on the Norwegian coast. The Germans said 12 were shot down over Cologne alone.

German reports, acknowledging that the Cologne civil population "suffered casualties in dead and injured," asserted the raiders concentrated their attack on "residential districts, hospitals and public buildings."

A British spokesman said the RAF struck in considerable force and inflicted widespread new damage, shifting their attack to the Ruhr after blasting four nights in a row at the German Baltic port of Rostock.

Stockholm reports said 10,000 families had been left homeless there, while the British air ministry declared aerial reconnaissance photos showed that the population was carrying out a mass exodus from the bomb-wrecked city, the home of the big Heinkel Aircraft Works.

A British communiqué acknowledged "a good many casualties," fires and widespread damage in the German night raid on Norwich (Pop. 125,000). Nine persons were missing in the debris of a bomb-smashed hospital; rescue workers were still digging in the wreckage for trapped victims at daylight.

Seven Nazi Messerschmitts also bombed and machine-gunned an English southeast coast town this morning.

CANADA HAS A FREE HAND TO CONSCRIPT

Government is Released From Commitments Restricting Method of Raising Army

QUEBEC AGAINST PLAN

Ottawa, April 28—(P)—Canadian citizens authorized the use of Canadian conscripts anywhere in the world by a vote approaching two-to-one in a plebiscite yesterday.

From dominion ballot boxes came an affirmative answer to the question submitted by the regime of Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King: "Are you in favor of releasing the government from any obligation arising out of any past commitments restricting the method of raising men for military service?"

Returns from 23,481 of the 31,203 polls showed 2,233,115 voted yes and 1,306,782 no.

Pre-election pledges had prevented the King government from sending any but volunteers to Britain and the Orient. Single men and childless widowers between 21 and 30 were subject to conscription for defense training. The way is now open for imposition of conscription for overseas service at any time it is deemed necessary or desirable.

One province to vote adversely was French-Canada Quebec, where the cry "a la conscription" (down with conscription) had been raised frequently in recent demonstrations reminiscent of its draft riots during the World War.

Returns from 7,437 of Quebec province's 7,975 polls gave: 367,361 yes, 909,835 no.

By contrast, early returns from all the eight other provinces were "yes," by from two to six to one.

The prime minister issued a statement saying it would be "recognized throughout the country that in a democracy, the will of the majority prevails."

About 7,000,000 men and women were eligible to participate in the plebiscite, Canada's first since 1898.

Members of the Canadian armed forces cast their ballots in advance from April 16 to 25. Their votes will be made public next week.

ROOSEVELT NAMES ACTING HEAD OF WPA

Washington, April 28—(P)—F. H. Dryden, deputy commissioner of work projects, became acting head of the WPA today, to serve until President Roosevelt names a successor to Commissioner Howard O. Hunter, who announced his resignation in New Orleans last night.

Dryden, a native of Pocomoke City, Md., formerly served as Maryland WPA administrator and as the agency's regional head for several eastern states. He was an officer of engineers during the first World War and before entering WPA work was a consulting engineer.

Darkening Of Coastline To Start Tonight

New York, April 28—(P)—Seagoing watchdogs start keeping tabs on lights high in New York's skyscrapers tonight as three states darken their coastline by army orders.

Nightly an offshore patrol will report any violations of rigid blackout and dim-out regulations covering New York, New Jersey and Delaware as far back as 15 miles from the shoreline, and the penalty may be a complete blackout.

Acting swiftly on Sunday's announcement by Lieut. General Hugh A. Drum, commanding general of the eastern defense command and first army, that the entire Atlantic seaboard soon would become a military area, Major General Irving J. Phillipson, commanding general of the Second Corps Area issued the tri-state lighting rules last night.

General Phillipson's orders provided, among other things, that street, highway and parkway lights be shaded to prevent their direct rays from being visible from the sea or shining at an angle above the horizon; that outdoor advertising signs be so shaded or extinguished; that all exterior shoreline lights not necessary to traffic be extinguished nightly, and that automobiles not use their bright lights whether parked or moving when visible from seaward.

25 Percent Cut Is Ordered in Coffee

Washington, April 28—(P)—"Here are the keys to the pantry, Jeeves; I feel like having some coffee and sugar with my cream this morning."

It's not quiet as bad as that, but a start may have been taken with the announcement that a 25 percent cut has been ordered in the consumption of coffee.

This means that wholesalers from now on will be permitted to release only enough coffee to afford the average American 2.1 cups a day, instead of the 2.8 cups to which he has been accustomed.

Sugar sales stopped at midnight, preparatory to a half-pound-per-person-per-week rationing program starting May 5.

Teachers And Janitors Out At Shamokin

Pupils Taken to School Buildings as Usual But Are Later Dismissed

STATE HELP POSSIBLE

Shamokin, April 28—(P)—Classes were suspended indefinitely today for 3,100 pupils of the Coal township schools when 124 teachers and 27 janitors went on strike demanding back salaries for the last two months.

The pupils were taken to the 13 school buildings by bus as usual this morning and were dismissed when the teachers and janitors failed to report.

Superintendent D. T. Meisberger said the schools would be closed indefinitely "until some agreement is reached."

Adam Ostroskie, secretary of the school board, said a meeting of board members would be held later today to consider the situation.

William F. McCall, a representative of the district instructors, said the teachers "are not going back until some satisfactory arrangement is made about their pay."

Schools were closed yesterday for the fourth selective service registration in which the striking teachers participated in line with their assertion the work holiday was not to interfere with any government program of draft enrollment or sugar rationing.

CHANGE IS MADE IN ICELAND COMMAND

Washington, April 28—(P)—Major General Charles H. Bone-steel of the United States army has taken over from British Major General Henry Osborne Curtis as commander of all United Nations' forces in Iceland.

The war department announced the change late yesterday but gave no indication of whether British troops were being withdrawn.

CADET CONVICTED

London, April 28—(P)—Gordon Frederick Cummins, 28-year-old RAF cadet, was convicted today of the London "blackout murder" and was sentenced to death. He was charged with slaying four women and the attempted murder of two others.

Young Doctor Slays Family

Rock Springs, Wyo., April 28—(P)—A young physician, who had detected tuberculosis symptoms in himself, administered narcotics to his wife and two small daughters, watched them die, and then swallowed a lethal drug dose himself, Coroner J. Warden Opie said last night.

Police broke into the family's home to find Dr. J. F. Ryan, 35, lying on a bed beside the body of his wife, about 34. The girls, Virginia, 5, and Mary Jane, 3, lay dead in their beds with their dolls beside them.

FREEZING OF LIVING COSTS ANTICIPATED

Regulations May Be Disclosed by Henderson at Conference Later in The Day

PLAN VERTICAL RULING

Washington, April 28—(P)—Consideration of labor legislation was postponed indefinitely in the senate today after Sen. Connally (D-Tex.) withdrew a motion to bring up a war plant seizure bill, saying he did not desire to press the matter and be in "apparent controversy with the president of the United States."

BY STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, April 28—(P)—On the brink of an historic plunge into over-all price controls, the capital today awaited announcement of a blanket price ceiling on virtually all consumer goods.

A vertical regulation, preventing prices from rising above the highest levels charged by each dealer in the month of March, was expected to be disclosed at a press conference scheduled for late today by Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

Advices accumulating for the last month indicates the ceiling would apply to retail, wholesale and manufacturers' levels.

President Roosevelt's anti-inflation message to congress yesterday gave a clear hint that rent controls in war-time boom areas would be linked with the proposed lid on prices.

Official sources had indicated previously that announcement of the sweeping Office of Price Administration action was waiting only on the president's presentation to congress of an omnibus anti-inflation program.

The plan was expected to follow the Canadian pattern of permitting each store to set its own ceiling, using the highest price it charged in March as the maximum. Thus, one store could continue to charge more than another for the same article, an arrangement permitting "quality" shops to continue adding into their prices the cost of higher operating expenses, delivery service and other "extras."

Rent controls can be set up in any community merely by designating it as a defense rental area.

AVERAGE WAGE NOW TOTALS $35 WEEKLY

Washington, April 28—(P)—Present wage levels, which President Roosevelt would stabilize, are giving workers in manufacturing industries an average of $35 per week.

Labor department records show this average weekly earning in January represented an increase of 25.4 per cent over January, 1941. The increase is due in part to overtime.

President To Deliver Talk At 10 Tonight

BY JACK BELL
Washington, April 28—(P)—A chorus of complaints that President Roosevelt practically had exempted organized labor from his share-the-war program spurred new efforts in congress today to force suspension of the 40-hour week and a legislative clamp-down on other union privileges.

Legislators generally approved the objectives set forth in the president's seven point message yesterday designed to bring about an "equality of privilege" in sharing the war burden, but split into confused and quarrelsome blocs opposing and supporting some of the methods proposed.

COATESVILLE SHOWS WAY IN SCRAP DRIVE

Coatesville, April 28—(P)—The nation's scrap-hungry steel mills could operate at full capacity for the next year, says Robert W. Wilcott, if every community would emulate Coatesville—collect enough junk in two weeks to build 20 light army tanks.

He'll Get His Number

Like many a lesser citizen from 45 to 64 years old, President Roosevelt registered for selective service, will get a draft number when the federal lottery is held. Watching the President sign up is James D. Hayes, chairman of Washington Draft Board No. 9.

Warren County Oil Producers Pledge Full Support at Forum

Oilmen Vote to Cooperate In Both Salvage and Production Programs

PROMINENT SPEAKERS

In a Victory Forum last night at the Y. M. C. A., oil producers of Warren county pledged their full support both to the Salvage program and the government's campaign to increase production of Pennsylvania crude oil.

The forum was presided over by J. E. Moorehead, executive manager of the Pennsylvania Crude Oil Association. The first speaker introduced was Hamilton Wright, specialist in industrial salvage of the War Production Board in Washington.

Mr. Wright emphasized the country's need for scrap metal and pointed out that there is scrap lying around in the Pennsylvania oil region which is about 70 years old, dating from early oil days. He said that in Texas 1,100 carloads of scrap had already been salvaged from the oil industry, amounting to 50,000 tons, or enough to build two big battleships.

His remarks were reinforced by Mr. Moorehead, who stated that the steel industry had lost steel ingot production amounting to 3,800,000 tons since 1941 due to lack of scrap.

The second speaker introduced was B. S. Knabenshue, co-chairman of the Warren County Salvage for Victory Committee. Mr. Knabenshue stressed the fact that oilmen should get their scrap into productive channels even if they do not make much money out of it. He stated that normal channels were being used and that local junk dealers were handling the problem satisfactorily.

He emphasized, however, that the local salvage committee is serving as an adjustment board for any complaints, either from the oil producers or from the junk dealers; and urged that all such complaints be referred to the committee.

Third speaker introduced was J. R. Willie, Jr., director of production for district 1 of the Office of Petroleum Coordinator, Washington. Mr. Willie stressed three points: first, the importance of the high grade Pennsylvania oil to the war effort, especially for aviation (Turn to Page Seven)

The sugar rationing program registration will be handled at the schools May 4 to 7.

Commissioner Studebaker said his office had requested superintendents and teachers to volunteer to handle the gasoline registration for the Office of Price Administration, and that four staff members had left to hold a series of conferences in the affected area.

DAMAGE TO BOOM TOWN UNESTIMATED

Martial Law Is Being Enforced at Pryor With National Guard Aiding State Motor Police

RED CROSS SENDS AID

BY BEN FUNK
Pryor, Okla., April 28—(P)—A sudden, savage tornado ripped the main street of the war boom town into ruins and the state highway patrol estimated today 100 persons perished and more than 250 were injured.

This town of 5,000 to 6,000, next door to the multi-million dollar Oklahoma Ordnance Works, was ordered under martial law, and Governor Leon C. Phillips placed Safety Commissioner Walter B. Johnson in command of state relief agencies.

The martial law is being enforced by the state highway patrol under Johnson, the state's National Guard having been mustered into the army.

Hundreds of workers and machinery from the Ordnance Works, which escaped serious damage, were rushed to the scene. Giant bulldozers and cranks shovels through the wreckage in search of victims.

The tornado struck yesterday at 5:45 p. m. (Eastern War Time). Most of the six block business district on Main street was reduced to rubble.

Early this morning, street patrols were organized to prevent looting and three arrests were reported.

The more seriously injured were hospitalized in nearby towns. The community house, two churches and the White Star Orphanage were being used for first aid and emergency stations. Pryor's two hospitals were damaged and evacuated.

Wounded overflowed hospitals at Vinita, Claremore, Tulsa and other towns.

The Red Cross sent eight disaster workers from St. Louis with medical and other supplies.

In one trailer camp west of town, eight persons were trapped and killed. The collapse of a grocery store killed another. Five persons eating in a cafe died in the smashed structure. Three bodies were recovered from a rubble heap that had been a garage.

All telephone communications were out. The electric power was off. Ambulances from nearby towns carried out wounded.

The storm was freakish in its savagery. One side of the first National Bank was blown out. Loose money from the tills—the amount undetermined—littered the street. Nobody stopped to pick it up. They were too busy.

Claremore residents reported seeing the storm east of there. It dipped down on highway 20 about 12 miles west of here and apparently followed the highway into Pryor.

HALT BRUSH FIRE

Butler, April 28—(P)—Volunteer firemen from West Sunbury, North Washington and Chicora were called out to aid in fighting what District Inspector J. A. Eberhart said was the 12th serious brush fire in Butler county this spring.

More than 300 acres of pasture and brush land near here were burned. Some 200 volunteers saved several houses, and oil wells that were endangered.

WOULD STUDY RATIONING

Washington, April 28—(P)—Representative Samuel A. Weiss of Glassport, Allegheny county, introduced a resolution yesterday proposing creation of a five-man house committee to inquire into the proposed gasoline rationing program.

He suggested the committee survey the situation and recommend remedial legislation.

Sugar Quota Program Is Inaugurated

Harrisburg, April 28—(P)—Pennsylvania inaugurated the government's sugar rationing program today with registration of some 90,000 trade outlets by high school instructors.

Carl D. Morrow, state coordinator of the enrollment, announced as the task got under way that "we are beginning to think already of gasoline rationing which is also being handled through the schools." He said May 12-14 probably will be set aside for this task.

Rationing administrator T. Elmer Transeau, meanwhile, said (Turn to Page Six)

TOUGH ON DRUNKEN DRIVERS

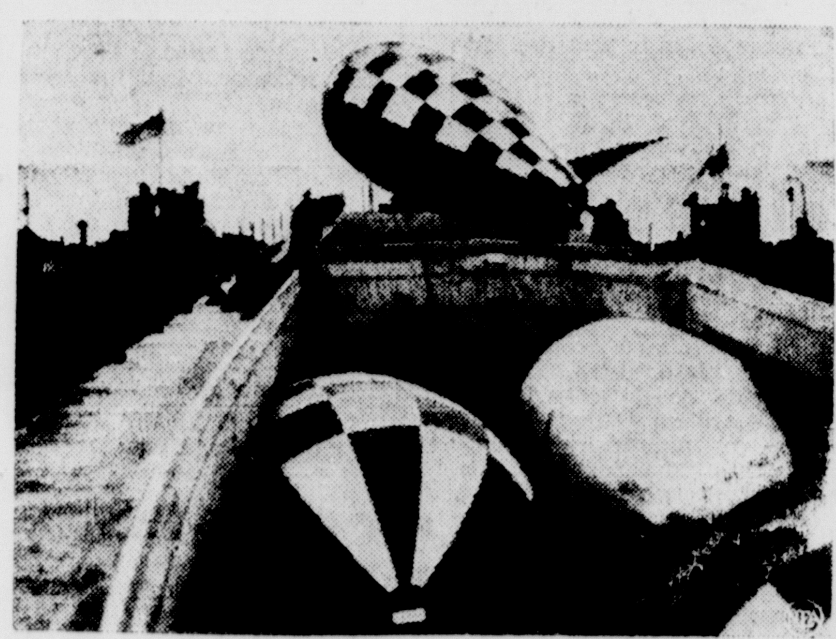

Chambersburg, April 28.—(P)—Judge Watson R. Davidson of the Franklin county court has warned drunk drivers who plead defense jobs as a reason for getting off lightly.

Judge Davidson asserted the offense, and not the sentence, deprived the country of their services. He said that in several instances he had imposed fines rather than jail sentences in drunken driving cases involving defense workers.

British Coastal Ships Send Up 'Kites' That Thwart German Dive Bombers

Meet the "kite" balloon, little brother of Britain's famous barrage balloons. Kite balloons are smaller and are flown from ships passing through coastal areas endangered by France-based Nazi bombers. The kites are credited with downing at least six enemy aircraft and with saving over 200 ships. When a convoy is protected by the balloons, dive-bombing and mast-high attacks become very hazardous. The Kite Balloon Section is a little-known branch of the Royal Navy. Men and women of the RAF service the balloons at shore depots, and navy craft take them out to any vessel requesting one. At first, merchant skippers were distrustful of them, but now few sail without their protection. Above, a convoy steams along under an "umbrella" of kite balloons. Photo at right shows kite balloons snugly stored in a depot barge, which is transferring one to a navy lighter, which will take it to a convoy.

WHY WE ARE RATIONED

The American people are indulging in unrealistic to-day which is going to add to the unpleasantness of tomorrow. Even after Pearl Harbor, Bataan, Singapore, Burma, we insist upon pampering ourselves with the narcotic of wishful thinking.

Specifically, to take current illustrations, there are the matters of automobiles and of sugar.

With all that has been said and written, the average man still appears to believe that the tire shortage will be relieved soon by a huge output of synthetic rubber; that there is no need for severe restriction upon gasoline, and so this will be lifted as soon as a few under-heads in Washington have been rebuked scathingly.

The same is true of sugar. We have been told, truthfully, that enough sugar is available to fill our national sweet tooth to overflowing. There are stories, believed if not true, that in Puerto Rico sugar cane is rotting uncut. Ergo, we are being victimized by some bureaucrats in the capital.

The Lord knows there are bureaucrats enough on the Potomac. But that is another story, which doesn't affect the bald, unpleasant truth.

Tires, gasoline, sugar are banned or rationed because there is no other way of beating Hitler and the Japs. In all probability they will be banned, or rationed until the war is over.

He who plans on any other basis is blowing soap bubbles of the flimsiest type. He'll be very sad when they burst.

Everybody realizes that tires are cut off because we can't get rubber to make more. As for synthetics... We're so short of steel, already, that we're struggling to keep armament and munitions production booming. We are forced to divert some of that steel to construct plants in which to make enough synthetic rubber for military use.

Is it sensible to suppose that any sane government will pull more steel out of war production, just so we can have tires for pleasure automobiles?

Everybody knows this country has more petroleum than we can use for generations to come.

But neither crude nor even gasoline helps unless it can be brought to our filling stations. War use and sinkings have depleted our tanker fleet. The railroads are handling all the oil and gasoline they possibly can.

Moreover, as a recent Washington statement said perfectly: "It is unbelievable that sailors be asked to take the risk of going down on a burning ship in order that someone may have gasoline to go to a bridge party or the ball game."

Everybody knows there is plenty of sugar. But where? In Cuba. In Puerto Rico. In Hawaii. Are we going to ask sailors to risk submarines to bring us a second spoonful of sugar for our coffee? Are we going to let armament and munitions lie in factories unused, so the railroads may haul Cuban sweetening from Florida for our gustatory delight?

The War Production Board says No. These shortages are here for the duration of the war. If we don't like them, we might get busier and shorten the war.

PRESIDENT MAY TAKE A CUT

President Roosevelt proposed in effect yesterday to cut sharply his own salary and the pay checks of hundreds of other executives who earn more than $40,000 a year.

Specifically, he asked congress to fix the tax law so that no individual could keep more than $25,000 a year out of his income after paying taxes. Under the present federal tax scale, a person who makes $40,000 can keep about $25,000.

The president is the only federal official who gets such a pay check. His salary, by law, is $75,000. No figures are available on how many persons in private life have such income, but the number of corporation executives, alone, who earn more than $40,000 is in the hundreds.

While the president did not make it clear, apparently his proposal would also permit high salaried people to deduct state income taxes if they live in one of the approximately 25 states which have such laws. In these states, a person would have to have an income exceeding $40,000 in order to keep $25,000 after taxes.

England's income tax limits individual income to approximately the same maximum.

After Waiting So Long for Nice Weather

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Notes from a Capital Cuff: It's been some time since the government's tax planners dished out anything very palatable, but two recent recommendations to Congress will be right tasty to a flock of income taxpayers.

One proposal by the treasury is to allow the deduction from income of large medical bills (between $500 and $2,500). The other is that boys and girls in college be considered as dependents until they reach their 21st birthday.

A major operation, or prolonged illness, can consume a huge chunk of the income of a relatively small wage earner but under the present law doctors' bills are not deductible. Likewise many taxpayers long have complained about the provision of the law which restricts dependent children to those under 18 years of age.

There are thousands of taxpayers who can produce convincing evidence that sons and daughters, who go to college, become a much heavier financial burden on their parents.

Indications are that Congress is more likely to approve the doctors' bills deduction than to extend the age of childhood dependency.

IT SEEMS that the stork, by working overtime, is adding to the complexity of Washington's housing problem. Since Pearl Harbor there has been an increase of 16 per cent in the number of births in the District of Columbia as compared with the corresponding period a year ago.

THERE are a number of federal workers here who wouldn't make a very good showing in a neighborhood popularity contest. They are the fellows who ride to work alone in a commodious motor car and never mean to pick up a fellow Washingtonian who is footing it a considerable distance to a bus line.

And some of these ride-sharing slackers think they are deserving of the priority rating.

A suggestion that the famous Japanese cherry trees hereafter be called the Korean cherry trees reminds Washingtonians of World War I days, when German fried potatoes became American fried and sauerkraut was re-named Liberty Cabbage.

Penn Bowling Center To Open Tomorrow Evening

ing, a sport for kings, takes bow in this fair city tonight when Harry Bitten-Oil City promoter, opens a modern Penn Bowling establishment housing alleys which truly are fit for a king.

Of the greatest additions to the sports picture in the past few years, the new public emporium of the bowling world, what with a fine business and a modest gentleman at the helm, is the new Penn Bowling Center, including fluorescent lighting of the alleys and en-ergetic, screen mask pits, balling lines coming back be-neath a pair of alleys instead of side of one of them, foul line, styled and efficient, and comfortable both for bowlers and specta-tors.

These improvements over bowling houses of only a few years back, the most outstanding of the local keggers probably the lighting. With back-facing the bowler, he can see the lights at all, and the tubes produce a day-umination without glare up-alley or pins.

Under the policy which Bitten-bender adopted and which will be immediately will be his system for pin-setters. This will be a boon to bowlers much as pin-setter trouble-ing games will be eliminat-ed. Bittenbender explained the system to be simple, with the pin collector extra money for an efficient and quiet piece of equipment.

Juliano, a veteran and ex-celent kegger in his own right, contracted to serve as in-structor, with his program, for new bowlers and others to correct their faults, to be finished in this paper at a later date.

Alleys open officially tomor-row at six o'clock when Harry and Mel Johnson will operate the slides with a couple of pin-setters. Lowrey is in-charge of the Warren Bowling Center, Johnson is secretary.

A public is extended a cordial invitation by Bittenbender to visit the new center and spare no time in their fortune on the newest in the community.

FIELD OF 17 MAY RUN FOR DERBY ROSES

BY SID FEDER
Louisville, Ky., April 28.—(P)—Also had a cut leg today and Sun Again had only a prayer. Outside of that there wasn't a thing wrong with the two top Prima Donnas in the mile Derby trial stakes which was to let folks in on just how this pair of high-powered campaigners might do in the Kentucky Derby itself Saturday.

A loose nail in the new shoe on his left hind hoof snagged in Al-sab's right ankle yesterday and laid open a cut. Although he bled quite a bit, no one was quite sure how it would affect his scheduled start in the Trial at Churchill Downs today and the big jackpot outing Saturday.

At the same time, Trainer Ben Jones admitted he was strictly picking a number out of a hat when it came to Sun Again's chances in either of these two gallops.

The ups and downs of these two derby babies stole the show from all other developments today, de-spite the accepted possibility that the Texas-owned Hollywood and Valinda Orphan might upset both of them in the trial, and the long-looked for arrival of Ben Whitaker's requested and Bill Woodward's Apache from New York.

Requested and Apache came down with Mrs. Ed Mulrenan's First Fiddle and Mrs. Barclay Doyle's Fair Call to fill out a list of 17 possibilities still given a chance to get to the post when the band pours out "My Old Kentucky Home" about 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

REDS NIPPED IN 11 HEATS BY CUBS, 4-3

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The major leagues open their first interseasonal strife of the season today and the next 10 days may be more revealing than those that have passed.

It is impossible to evaluate the Brooklyn Dodgers, for instance, on their record of winning nine out of 11 games from the Boston Braves and Philadelphia Phils and no one will be sure of the surpris-ing strength shown by the Cleve-land Indians until they are test-ed against the New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox.

At the outset there are three series that stand out—the Detroit Tigers invasion of Boston in the American League and the Brook-lyn at Cincinnati and New York at St. Louis struggles in the Na-tional League.

The Reds ran into another set-back yesterday, 4-3 in 11 innings, by the Chicago Cubs, Johnny Van-der Meer hurried for the Reds and allowed 11 hits in 11 frames—but six of these were bunched in the fourth and fifth innings for three Chicago runs and two more, sing-les by Stan Hack and Rookie Len Merullo, sandwiched an error by Shortstop Eddie Joost in the 11th and spelled Vandy's doom.

The Reds made two of their runs on three hits in the sixth inning and brought Paul Erickson hurrying to the rescue of Hiram Bit-horn. He performed a noteworthy relief mission, allowing only one hit in 5 1/3 innings, but this blow was an eighth-inning home run by Frank McCormick to tie the score.

APPLY FINAL TOUCHES TO Y GYMKHANA

Clowns, tumblers and apparatus artists, marching drills, relay races and several other outstanding routines, are undergoing finishing touches to produce all the gaiety, color and perfection to leave last-ing impressions upon two expected capacity audiences for this year's annual Y. M. C. A. Gymkhana which will be given two nights, Thursday and Friday of this week.

All is in near readiness for the biggest and best show ever offered in the long history of the yearly gym demonstration, and fans are still asking for it, if the advance ticket sales can be used as guides.

Every youth taking part in this year's affair has taken more in-terest in his work, according to a report by Physical Director Ed Hasler, than he's ever realized in the past years in which he's been promoting the show.

No less than 17 different acts are on the program for both nights this year, plus and added feature which will offer George Olson, local bag-punching artist who has some new tricks and highlights are sure to demand the applause of the crowds.

For a gala night of excitement and thrills, and for a lasting re-minder of how things are done in America, the Y. M. C. A. is com-plete and should be a "must" for all of the sports-loving public.

Publishers Falter To Leave Three Teams Sharing Arcade Industrial League Command

"The best laid schemes of mice and men, oft fall astray," it was once said, and the latest proof is found today in the Arcade Industrial bowling league where until last night the Times-Mirror team had held visions of coasting into Pennantville.

But Bab's Barbers shattered all such hopes by pounding the wood for 2676 and taking three points from the Publishers, while Kin-near's were getting four via a fore-felt on the part of the Heat Treat, and the Forge Shop rapped Cros-setts for four to bring about a three-way tie for top honors.

With only two more weeks of the campaign remaining, this leaves a ticklish setup for the newsmen who have only been out of the No. 1 spot once this year.

The only other match of the evening saw Butter Krusts trip Millie's Inn in an unimportant set-ting.

Meanwhile, at the Elks club it was forfeit night as teams not having a chance to play in the playoffs didn't bother to come around and Irvin's, Warren Tank and Soda Mineral quintets all ac-cepted four points with unlimited gratitude from respective oppo-nents of South Side Market, Steins and Kirberger's. The only team to roll for a victory in competition was the Style Shop which clamped down on Maders to take all four points.

Only high individual series in town last night was Harry Clep-per's 638 at the Arcade for the Butter Krusts, posted on games of 213, 211, 214.

Honor roll scores: At Arcade—Clepper 214; At Elks—Dorsey 231, Lynch 214, Christensen 223, Kuhre 211, Harvey 212.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

The Busy Bee and Iroquois Beer bowling teams which journeyed to Jamestown over the weekend to bowl in that city's annual spring tournament didn't do so well as teams, perhaps, but several individual and doubles scores seem to be in the money. . . . Frank Willard and Pete Juliano hit 1166 for the best local doubles showing, Johnny Waples and Warren Miller hit 1132, Pat Harvey and Bob Check cracked 1127, all of them expected to be somewhere in the money. In the singles, Warren Miller cashed 598, Bob Check 578 and Juliano 589, and these totals, too, may find some of that prize cabbage. . . . In all-events, Juliano and Check tied with 1716 apiece in the nine games. . . . This mark, however, probably won't pick up anything except honorable mention. . . . Bowlers can take their minds off the war, sugar, gas and tire rationing, and all of the other countless, troubles for a spell tomor-row night when Harry Bittenbender makes his formal debut as he opens those eight sparkling lanes at his new Penn Bowling Center. . . . The curtain goes up at six o'clock, and there'll be plenty to keep one occupied from then on. . . . Since the inauguration of the ladies' doubles tourney at the Arcade two years ago, Red Walsh, popular bowler of the fairer sex, has always been included in the winning pair. . . . Last Friday night she was coupled with Jeannette Harvey as they claimed honors, largely on Red's bulging 561 score.

Rejected by Uncle Sam because one eye was sightless, 33-year-old George Kotalik may make his "Uncle" stop and reconsider after Sun-day's exploit in the ABC tournament in Columbus, O. . . . He hit games of 257, 264, 215 for a scorching 736 series, fourth highest in this year's tournament, and then added totals of 623 and 607 to collect 1966 pins in all-events competition, which gave him second place, only seven pins away from Ted Moskal, Saginaw, Mich., star, who has 1973. . . . Kotalik, a Chicagoan, lost the sight of one eye when he had measles in his childhood. . . . About 20 youngsters are trying out for "Rabbit" Swanson's State Hospital nine this spring, and there is some good and fair material. . . . Johnny Kane and Jim Akeley of Russell look like comers who'll probably win berths on the squad. . . . Akeley was with the Hospital last year. . . . Kane is a southpaw twirler and has a smoke ball that makes the Japs look tame. . . . Charley Clawson, Monk Murphy, Jim Rose, Bob Jensen, Frank Irvin and Myron Jewell are among the veterans on the squad. . . . Ken Heintzelman has pitched two games without a run scored against him for Pittsburgh thus far this year. . . . His opponents both times have been the Cards, and St. Louis' Chamber of Commerce is about ready to bar the Bucco twirler because he's a home town boy turned traitor, they claim.

DIES IN PLUNGE
Pittsburgh, April 27.—(P)—A steel worker who said acquaint-ance had wrongfully called him a spy plunged 100 feet to death from a Heidelberg railroad bridge last night.

Carnegie police, who identified him as Joseph Struth, 37, said they found a note on his cap say-ing: "They're branding me as a spy, but I am innocent. I would rather die than betray my country, the United States of America. These men that framed me will have this on their minds until they die."

Secret Orders BY ELEANOR ATTERBURY

Chapter 17
The Weeping Girl
IT WAS the right street. Lady Luck had smiled. As Stephanie guided the heavy car between the heavy iron gates at the entrance to the hospital grounds, joined the long line of ambulances moving slowly up to the door marked "Emergency," she felt tears of relief sliding down her cheeks.

But the opportunity to see Kurt came and went so quickly, she could scarcely be sure she'd actu-ally looked into his face, so gaunt, so pallid it was only a grim car-icature of the Kurt she'd known.

Then, they carried him away and Stephanie responded auto-matically to sharp orders to "Drive on!"

Once on the way back to the waterfront, full realization of what she had done swept over her. It might mean trouble for the regular driver, it certainly would mean trouble for her. And what of her orders to report to Pier 51!

She drove as fast as she dared, never once letting the ambulance ahead get out of sight. If her luck would hold out for just a few minutes more—

She parked the car in the line before the big pier, slipped over, raced the long block back to her own station wagon. No one stopped her and a moment later she was making precarious head-way toward Pier 51.

The next few hours were so strenuously busy with filling her wagon with refugee women and their children, with taking them to safe shelter, with returning for more painful loads, that Stephanie had no time to remember Kurt's white face.

But later, as she crawled weari-ly into bed, and closed her eyes, instantly the memory flashed that picture across the silver-screen of her mind. Kurt, her heart wept, Kurt! What have they done to you? And what—lay ahead!

She'd contrived to find some way to see him tomorrow. Right now, she was too tired even to think of a plan. Gratefully she buried her cheek in the pillow. She was so exhausted that even her senses weren't trustworthy. Right now, the wind in the eaves sounded ex-actly like a woman sobbing.

She pulled the bedclothes higher, turned over. Still the wind wailed pathetically. Or was it the wind? She raised on one el-bow to listen. There it was again. Soft, irregular sobbing like a heart-broken child's.

Tears—And Love
STEPHANIE pulled on her robe, thrust her feet into slippers, padded to the window to listen. Not wind in the eaves, but some-one crying down in the kitchen of her own house. Puzzled, Step-hanie snapped on the hall light, ran down the stairs.

There was no light anywhere downstairs. Even the sobbing stopped as Stephanie opened the door to the kitchen. Fumbling, found the light switch.

There, curled small in Tsang's big rocker, was little Liu, her pretty round face tear-streaked, her eyes red with weeping.

"Why—Liu! Whatever is the matter?" Stephanie demanded, amazed. Never, in all the years that Liu had visited her old grandfather had Stephanie ever seen her anything but widely smiling.

The young Chinese girl got to her feet swiftly, gracefully, stood trying to smile.

"What is it, Liu? Are you ill?" "No, Miss Stephanie. Nothing is the matter. I am sorry if I dis-turbed you."

American born and raised though she was, Liu obviously felt she had "lost face" to have her tears discovered. Stephanie smiled, held out her hand.

"Tell me what is breaking your heart, Liu," she urged. "Perhaps I can help you."

Still, the girl shook her head. "My grandfather would forbid it."

Stephanie frowned. "Tsang? But why?" Then she remembered old Tsang's grumbling story about her granddaughter's Japanese friend. "Look, Liu, is it about the boy you met at the University?"

Startled, the girl looked at her a moment, finally nodded. "Ha-jami is gone," she said simply.

"Gone!" Stephanie smiled, drew the girl down beside her on the scarred old window-bench where Tsang always sat to peel his vege-tables or read his Chinese news-paper. "But that's not so awful, is it? He'll be back won't he?"

"I think now he is probably dead," Liu said in a voice from which all hope seemed gone.

"Dead! What are you saying?" "Hajami is as good an Ameri-can as you are, Miss Stephanie," the girl said with sudden passion. "He loved this country. He did not love the country of his ancestors. I know he did not. But they tried to make him betray this country."

"They?" Stephanie asked in-stantly. "Who is 'they,' Liu?"

"A tall gentleman who came to see him many times. Some times at his boarding house. Sometimes on the campus between his classes. A tall dark-haired gen-tleman, he said, who threatened Ha-jami."

"Threatened him about what?" Stephanie prompted.

"He said that if he did not agree to do as he was told, he would be shot."

"Shot! That's ridiculous. This is America, Liu!"

The girl shook her head. "That is what Hajami said to the strange gentleman. He would have noth-ing to do with him. And now—he is gone. Nobody knows where. No-body has seen him for two days." Her lips trembled and she fought for control, torturing a scrap of white handkerchief. "And no-body will help me to find him."

"But why not, Liu. Surely—"

Offer Of Help
HAJAMI'S father says it is bet-ter to say nothing lest the rest of the family be punished. Hajami has many brothers and sisters. And my grandfather for-bids me to tell anyone. He says it is punishment for me for even making a friend of Hajami. But I know they're crept back into my pretty face—'Why should I not have made a friend of him? We were in many of the same classes. We enjoyed talking together. Ha-jami is a fine person. It is no dis-grace in America to like a fine person, is it?"

"Of course not," Stephanie as-sured her while her thoughts raced ahead to try to think of some way to help. "Did you see the man who threatened Hajami?"

The girl shook her head. "No, never."

"And when was Hajami seen last?"

"He left for his classes yester-day morning but he never reached the campus," Liu's eyes filled slowly. "Oh, Miss Stephanie, I know they have done something dreadful."

"We must report it to the po-lice."

The girl rose instantly. "Oh, please, no! Oh, no! My grand-father would never permit it. He would disown me. You must not do that. Can't you see, Miss Step-hanie, it is for me—for my fam-ily—a disgrace that—I cannot—we"

Sobs overtook her then and she crumpled into a little heap at Stephanie's feet.

"Please, Liu, don't cry. I'll find a way. I promise you." She tried to comfort the girl, drew her back onto the bench beside her. "Now you run along to bed and stop worrying."

Liu dried her tears, tried to smile. "Thank you. You are gen-erous, Miss Stephanie, but you must not endanger yourself."

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

Clorox Is of Value In House Cleaning

The favorite household disinfectant of millions of housewives throughout the nation—Clorox—is also of outstanding value in the public health field.

Authorities recognize the germicidal efficiency of Clorox and its importance in maintaining higher public health standards, especially when used as a precaution against bacterial contamination of drinking water; for sanitation in restaurants, soda fountains, taverns, dairies and other food processing plants; in diaper laundries; for preparation of surgical solutions and for general sanitary uses in hospitals.

The effectiveness of Clorox in its many public health uses is conclusive proof of its efficiency for scores of everyday jobs in household sanitation.

In making homes Clorox-clean women are not only providing greater home health defense, but they are helping to build greater national health defense which is of vital importance at this time.

ance to Navy awards made through individual bureaus.

"In view of this circumstance," Admiral Wiley said, "and with the hearty concurrence of the Bureau of Ordnance, it is my privilege to advise you that the board approves your holding the All-Navy 'E' burgee at any of the establishments of your company now entitled to fly the Bureau of Ordnance flag and the old style Navy 'E' pennant."

At the same time, employees of the National Forge and Ordnance Company were authorized to wear the new All-Navy 'E' label buttons, which will replace the Navy 'E' insignia now worn.

In announcing the award, Mr. Harrington said, "While we all realize that this added honor is largely responsible to the boys in our production departments, we wish to extend not only congratulations but sincere thanks to the entire organization. We also greatly appreciate the splendid cooperation given us by the Navy men assigned to our plant."

The Bureau of Ordnance Navy 'E' flag, which the new All-Navy 'E' replaces, was formally presented to the National Forge and Ordnance Company at ceremonies held at the plant on November 22, 1941, at which time Admiral William H. Standley, U. S. N., made the presentation.

It will be recalled that Admiral Standley later was a member of the commission which was sent to Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, to investigate circumstances surrounding the Japanese attack. He has since been named ambassador to Russia.

Numerous other outstanding Navy representatives and government officials attended the ceremony.

No formal ceremony is planned for the presentation of the All-Navy 'E' flag, because of production demands at the plant and the fact that such a ceremony would necessitate temporary shutdown of important work in the plant.

His remarks dovetailed those of the fourth speaker, Dr. Parke A. Dickey, of the Pennsylvania Topographic and Geographic Survey who described some of the methods of increasing production; including more efficient operation of present wells and repressuring. He also outlined in detail the course to be followed in securing materials necessary to improve production.

Mr. Moorehead closed the meeting by expressing the belief that the Pennsylvania oil producers would not only reach the government goal of 85,000 barrels of oil average per day for the district but would exceed this quota and produce to "refinery capacity."

By a show of hands the oilmen voted to cooperate fully in both salvage and production programs.

Fix June 1st As Last Day To Register

Official announcement made at the local police headquarters today set June first as the deadline for registering bicycles. With approximately 700 permits issued since the beginning of the campaign last Thursday, the local police are well started on the new safety program, though it was stated that many more bicycles are yet unregistered.

Cyclists are reminded that regulations call for such equipment as either bell or horn on their vehicle, and also a head lamp and reflector or tail light if they wish to use their bicycles at night. However, special provisions have been made to register bicycles without this equipment temporarily due to the fact that purchasing such accessories has become difficult. But authorities handling the registration, stated that a checkup will be made afterward to make sure bicycles have the equipment needed in order to secure a permit.

All cyclists upon registering are given a leaflet with safety riding rules which should be followed at all times. Traffic regulations are stressed in this leaflet, especially such orders as obeying stop lights and signs, driving on the right side of the street, and keeping bicycles under control at all times.

For violation of any rules governing the use of bicycles, it was warned that penalties consisting of a fine of five dollars or impounding of a vehicle from one to 30 days, or both of these penalties may be imposed upon the violator.

Others are reminded that registering their bicycle is their security against theft of the vehicle or parts of it.

Any owners who did not have their bicycles registered during the past week may gain their permits on Saturdays from nine o'clock in the morning until five o'clock in the afternoon. It was stated today, effective until the first of June.

Hold Man In Starting Of Forest Fire

Charged with gross negligence as a result of having left a campfire unextinguished in the Allegheny National Forest, John Earl Lubold, 59, of Kane, is being held by federal authorities in the McKean county jail in default of $1,000 bail. It was reported here today by R. F. Hemingway, forest supervisor.

Hemingway said that Lubold has admitted to state police and forest officials that he left a campfire unextinguished on the morning of April 22. In addition, according to the forest supervisor, Lubold failed to obtain a free camp fire permit, required of all national forest campers.

Since he did not prepare a cleared spot down to the mineral soil before building the fire, it was only a matter of time when the duff and leaf mold became dry and also caught fire, the forestry official said. Some time after Lubold left, the smoldering fire escaped into the surrounding forest and some 39 acres were burned before being brought under control.

The fire gravely endangered the Department of Agriculture's 4,000-acre Tionesta tract of virgin timber, the largest area of its type in eastern United States, according to officials.

Mr. Hemingway said much credit is due to the Kane substation of the state police for their part in helping the forest service establish Mr. Lubold's connection with the fire and in securing his confession.

Mr. Hemingway also reports that this has been a particularly dry season to date and fire conditions are unusually critical. The Allegheny National Forest has had to extinguish several times as many fires this year as in corresponding periods in the past, he said. While most of the fires have been caused by trains carrying public would do well to learn the correct manner of building campfires and disposing of cigarettes and matches.

Fishermen have been very cooperative in complying with the forest service request to forego their support until after a good rain. It was stated.

"This is war time," said Supervisor Hemingway, "and we can ill afford to be fighting needless forest fires."

Man Held In Shooting Of Navy Officer

District Attorney Burton Laub, of Erie, said late yesterday that Edward Gawarecki, 24, of Maple View, N. Y., had admitted robbing and shooting at a man near North East, where Petty Officer Lloyd Wilkinson, 23, was slain April 3.

Gawarecki, apprehended in St. Louis, has been booked on a robbery charge during questioning, Laub said.

Laub quoted Gawarecki as saying he "fired several shots," during a fight that followed the robbery.

Wilkinson, home on a three-day furlough from the navy, was talking over marriage plans with his fiancée, Ruby Eastman, 18, of North East, in a parked automobile on King's road when the hold-up occurred.

Miss Eastman said a roughly-dressed gunman ordered them out of the car and took $15 from Wilkinson. As she ran to the nearby home of friends, the gunman fired a volley of shots, killing Wilkinson.

Laub said St. Louis police had found in Gawarecki's hotel room riding breeches similar to the trousers which Miss Eastman said the gunman wore.

THE PRESIDENT WRITES:

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

Dear Mr. Sibley:

Not by machines alone will we win this war.

Unitedly, unstintingly, and without intermission or delay, we have solemnly promised to give our men a mounting tide of guns, tanks, planes and ships.

We shall keep that promise, and one promise more - that we shall preserve for them, wherever they may be, and without regard to race, creed or color, the moral and spiritual values of the democratic ideals and freedoms for which they now are fighting.

Because the USO is unitedly dedicated to that high purpose, and because that high purpose is a vital part of the job of winning this war, the USO should be supported by everybody - cheerfully, generously, and fully.

Very sincerely yours,

Franklin D. Roosevelt

Mr. Harper Sibley, President, United Service Organizations, Empire State Building, New York, N. Y.

Major Symptoms Minor Troubles

BY PAUL BRAUNSCHEWEIGER of the Mullen Drug Co.

"It's my heart," is the self diagnosis of many a man or woman, when actually his or her heart is sound as a bell. Because your breath is short, because you faint on small provocation or because you have a pain somewhere in the region of your heart is no reason for you to decide that you have heart trouble. Only a doctor can decide that. He is qualified and equipped to make sure.

Often these warnings indicate a condition which compared to actual heart trouble is a minor matter, one easily corrected. What a release from worry to know that actually you are suffering from nervous strain. Let the doctor decide!

Let a trained druggist compound your medication.
